PRESENTATION OF THE EVENT

We have the honour to invite you to participate in the second "Research Days in Education" (RDE) 2021 conference. Given the ongoing nature of the COVID-19 pandemic and unpredictability of future events we have decided to transform the JRE 2021 conference to a fully online, virtual experience. All conference presentations will take place on 28 and 29 April 2021 via Zoom. We apologize for any inconvenience this change might cause. Please contact us if you need further clarifications and continue to visit our JRE 2021 website for any updates.

This second RDE event aims to bring together academic scholars, novice researchers (Master and PhD), teachers and other stakeholders in the Polynesian education system to reflect on current issues in education. The geographical distance of French Polynesia from national and international educational research centres complicates collaboration with other research scholars and specialists in education. In this particular context, it seems necessary to bring together not only local resources and institutions but also scholars from other research centres. Thus, the two other objectives of this second RDE conference are (a) to search for common educational issues and (b) to initiate research collaborations with researchers from other universities.

CONFERENCE LANGUAGE

The languages of the conference are French, English and Tahitian. However, proposals must be submitted either in English or French.

CALL FOR CONTRIBUTION

We invite you to submit proposals for oral presentations on one of the following themes:

Theme 1: Content and Language Integrated Learning (EMILE in French).

CLIL will be the central theme of the RDE 2021 conference.

- CLIL and context: Contexts and conditions of learning.
- CLIL and the use of L1: Translanguaging, code switching, code-meshing etc.
- CLIL and affect: Beliefs, attitudes and motivation of learners.
- CLIL and age: Issues related to age and CLIL learning.

- CLIL and theoretical issues: Search for theoretical standpoints and compatible approaches.
- CLIL and pedagogical issues: Teacher training, learner involvement, links between learning and cognition.
- CLIL and learning outcomes: Experimental studies comparing CLIL with other practices and longitudinal case studies focusing on learning outcomes.

We also accept proposals addressing current issues in education through one of the following themes:

Theme 2: Contextualized instruction: Theoretical and practical approaches.

Theme 3: Actual and reported practices: School and family involvement in educational practices.

Theme 4: Innovation and education: New pedagogies and technologies in education.

Theme 5: Plurilingual settings: Autochthonous, second and foreign language learning and teaching.

Proposals that are not directly linked to the overarching conference themes will also be considered.

ABOUT SUBMISSIONS

VIRTUAL PRESENTATIONS

The virtual presentations will be scheduled in the same way as regular conference presentations. Presentations will be followed by questions and answers (5 to 10 minutes). When the conference programme is ready, a Zoom link will be provided.

Pre-recorded video

Going virtual means that we need to take certain precautions in case participants have connection problems. Because of this contingency, we will also require each of you to submit a pre-recorded video, regardless of your prior choice of contribution modality. We discourage the submission of videos based solely on PowerPoint. We recommend videos that integrate your presentation and PowerPoint.

- Please submit your pre-recorded video latest 4 March 2021.
- The duration of a pre-recorded video is 10 minutes.
- The file name of the pre-recorded video must be as follows: surname_name JRE2021_Video_paper code.

ABSTRACTS

All proposals (oral communications, poster presentations, virtual presentations and roundtable discussions) should contain a long and short abstract (in Word.doc format) including the main points detailed below. Abstracts should respect the style sheet. (Download the style sheet).

Long abstracts

Long abstracts must contain 750-800 words (excluding references). Proposals must describe the objectives, context, theoretical stance, methodology and results (if applicable). Long abstracts should include a references list (see the style sheet).

Short abstracts

Short abstracts must contain 200-250 words (reference list is not required) including the main points described above and must be written in the format indicated in the style sheet.

Requests for information on the content of the conference should be sent electronically to zehra.gabillon@upf.pf.

CONFERENCE PUBLICATIONS

CONFERENCE PROCEEDINGS

Long abstracts will be published as conference proceedings in electronic format on the JRE 2021 webpage.

EDITED COLLECTION

Selected articles, following a double-blind peer review process, will be published as an edited collection (see important dates about the conference publications). Manuscripts must be minimum 10 and maximum 20 pages long (including figures and tables) and the text must be written in Microsoft Office .doc / .docx format (Download the style sheet).

CERTIFICATE OF CONTRIBUTION

After the conference, all speakers and session chairs will receive a certificate of contribution via email. If needed, a paper copy can be requested by writing to zehra.gabillon@upf.pf.

ABOUT CONFERENCE REGISTRATION

Registration to RDE 2021 is free for the first author. If the second author also wishes to be present, s/he is invited to inform the organizers at zehra.gabillon@upf.pf.
